Programme 29.11.2026

09:00-13:00

Experience today's technologies first-hand.

On Sunday, our industry partners invite you to a series of interactive, hands-on workshops showcasing their latest technologies, solutions and clinical applications.

These sessions offer the ideal opportunity to go beyond theory: see the technologies in action, work with them yourself, ask detailed questions and speak directly with the experts behind them.

Designed to provide a comprehensive overview of the current technologies available in biological and integrative dentistry, the workshops will help you understand what each solution can offer and how it may fit into your own clinical practice.

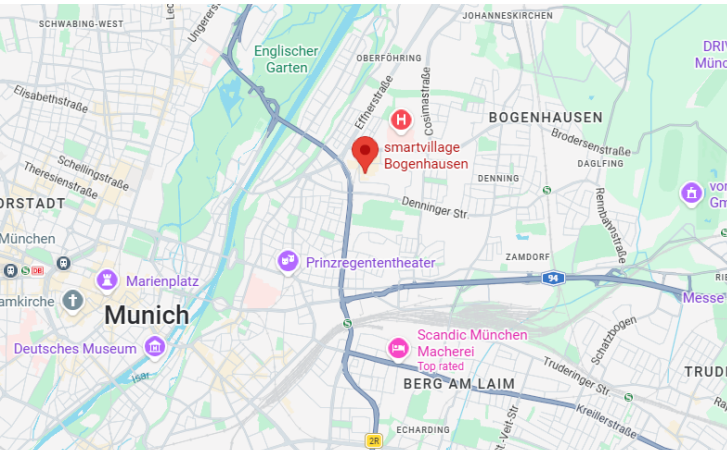

Explore. Experience. Compare. Make informed decisions.

This day is free and open to all visitors. Meet new colleagues and network alongside the best technologies and solutions on the market.

Terms and Conditions for ICOSIM e.V. Events

1. Scope of Application

These Terms and Conditions (T&C) govern registration, payment, and participation in events, congresses, seminars, webinars, workshops, and other educational activities organized by ICOSIM e.V. – International College of Maxillo-Mandibular Osteoimmunology. By submitting a completed registration, the participant accepts these T&C as legally binding.

2. Organizer and Contractual Partner

ICOSIM e.V. International College of Maxillo-Mandibular Osteoimmunology
Email: info@icosim.de

3. Registration and Payment

Registration takes place via the official registration process provided by ICOSIM e.V. Upon receipt of the registration, the participant will receive a confirmation and/or invoice for the applicable participation fee. The booking becomes binding upon submission of the registration. Invoices must be paid by the payment date stated on the invoice. Where payment is required, participation is confirmed only after full payment has been received.

4. Cancellation and Transfer Unless expressly stated otherwise for a particular event, all bookings are binding and participation fees are non-refundable. A participant may request to transfer their registration to another eligible person. Such transfers require prior written approval by ICOSIM e.V. and must be requested before the event by contacting info@icosim.de. ICOSIM e.V. reserves the right to make reasonable changes to the event programme, speakers, schedule, format, or venue where necessary. Such changes do not in themselves entitle participants to reimbursement. If an event is cancelled by ICOSIM e.V., participation fees already paid for the cancelled event will be refunded. Further claims remain excluded to the extent permitted by applicable law.

5. Photo and Video Recordings Photo and video recordings may be made during ICOSIM e.V. events for documentation, communication, and promotional purposes. Recordings may be used by ICOSIM e.V. in connection with its activities, including on websites, social media, digital communications, and printed materials, subject to applicable data protection and personality rights. Participants who have concerns regarding photography or filming are encouraged to contact the organizer prior to the event.

6. Limitation of Liability ICOSIM e.V. shall be liable in accordance with applicable statutory provisions in cases of intent, gross negligence, injury to life, body or health, and where liability cannot legally be excluded or limited. To the extent permitted by law, ICOSIM e.V. assumes no liability for loss of or damage to personal belongings or for services provided independently by third parties, including hotels, transportation providers, exhibitors, sponsors, or other external service providers. Participation in practical demonstrations, workshops, and associated activities is at the participant's own responsibility, subject to mandatory statutory liability provisions.

7. Data Protection and Privacy ICOSIM e.V. processes personal data in accordance with the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and other applicable data protection legislation. Personal data collected during registration may include the participant's name, professional and contact details, billing information, membership information, and other information necessary to administer participation. Such data may be processed for purposes including registration management, invoicing, participant communication, event organization, access management, certificates of attendance, and other administrative requirements associated with the event. Where necessary for event organization, relevant data may be shared with service providers or cooperation partners involved in delivering the event. Personal data will otherwise only be disclosed where legally permitted or required. Marketing communications concerning future ICOSIM activities and events will be sent where permitted by applicable law or where the participant has provided the necessary consent. Any consent given may be withdrawn at any time. Personal data will be retained only for as long as necessary for the relevant purpose or as required by statutory retention obligations. Participants may exercise their applicable data protection rights, including rights of access, rectification, erasure, restriction of processing, and objection, by contacting info@icosim.de. Further information is provided in the applicable ICOSIM e.V. privacy policy.

8. Applicable Law and Jurisdiction These Terms and Conditions are governed by the laws of the Federal Republic of Germany. Any mandatory statutory provisions regarding jurisdiction and consumer protection remain unaffected. Where legally permissible, the place of jurisdiction shall be the registered seat of ICOSIM e.V.

9. Final Provisions If any provision of these T&C is or becomes invalid or unenforceable, the validity of the remaining provisions shall remain unaffected. The applicable statutory provisions shall apply in place of any invalid or unenforceable provision.
